

God can be described using the prefix 'Omni' which mean 'all'

Omnipotent - All powerful
 Omnipresent - Always present
 Omniscient - All knowing

Transcendent - God is outside of our world and above all human understanding.

Some Christians use the trinity to describe God - Father (Creator), Son (Jesus) and Holy Spirit

All 3 religions which you will study (Christianity, Hinduism and Islam) all believe in 1 God – this is called Monotheism.

Religion	Holy Book	Place of Worship
Christianity	Bible	Church
Hindusim	Vedas	Mandir
Islam	Qura'n	Mosque

Brahman	Hindus believe in One Supreme Spirit, or Power called Brahman. Brahman can take the form of many gods and goddesses, also known as deities.
Trimurti	Hindus believe that Brahman is beyond their understanding, so the different gods and goddesses help them to understand various aspects of Brahman. Three of the Hindu gods are known as the Trimurti (Brahma, Vishnu, Shiva)

Allah in Arabic

In Islam, Muslims give Allah (God) 99 names. There are no images of Allah because this would be an insult to compare Allah to anything which a Human could draw or create.
